

LeverageAI Partners — Website Rebuild

Version 1.0 Date April 2026 Owner You + Brandon Target Launch May 2026 Stack Claude Code

1. Purpose & goal

Reposition LeverageAI Partners as the primary destination for small businesses (5–50 employees) to book an AI Business Assessment. The site's single conversion goal is getting a prospect to schedule a call or submit an inquiry. AI implementation, automation, and agent work are surfaced as natural next steps — not pushed.

Out of scope: blog, resource library, case study archive, ecommerce. Keep it surgical. One product, one CTA, one conversion path.

2. Target audience

Primary

Small business owner or ops lead, 5–50 employees, overwhelmed, not technical. They've heard of AI but don't know where to start. They're paying for time they don't have.

Secondary

Mid-market ops manager, Microsoft 365 shop, wants to justify AI spend to leadership. Will respond to ROI language and tool specifics.

3. Brand voice & tone

Voice

Direct, confident, peer-to-peer — not guru, not vendor

Tone

Practical and grounded; avoid hype words (revolutionary, game-changing)

Persona

Two experienced operators who've done the IT work and know which tools are real

Avoid

Corporate AI stock imagery, purple gradient aesthetics, buzzword soup

Copy direction: "We tell you exactly where AI will save you time and money — and show you how to get there." Not "We empower businesses to leverage cutting-edge artificial intelligence solutions."

4. Site architecture

Single-page or minimal multi-page. Suggested structure:

SECTION 1 — HERO

Headline focused on the outcome, not the service. Subhead that explains what an AI Assessment is in one sentence.

Single primary CTA: "Book Your Free 15-Min Call" (Calendly embed or link). Social proof element: small text like "Businesses in Phoenix and Houston — typical assessment turnaround 48 hrs."

Headline Subhead Primary CTA Trust signal

SECTION 2 — HOW IT WORKS

3-step process block

Step 1: 45-min Zoom call — we learn your business. Step 2: We build a custom report (48 hr turnaround) showing where AI can give you time and money back. Step 3: Follow-up call to walk through findings. No jargon. No fluff.

3-step visual Simple icons Copy-forward

SECTION 3 — WHAT'S IN THE REPORT

Report preview / sample output

Show a redacted or mockup report screenshot. Call out the 4 components: executive summary, effort/impact matrix, recommended tools, 4-day quick win plan. Emphasize: specific, actionable, not generic advice.

Mockup visual Feature callouts Sample output

SECTION 4 — WHO IT'S FOR

Fit / not a fit

Short qualification block. "This works best if you have 5–50 employees, you're wearing too many hats, and you're curious about AI but don't have time to research it yourself." Optionally list 3–4 industries you've worked with.

Qualification copy Industries

SECTION 5 — ABOUT

You + Brandon, briefly

Two short bios. Emphasize combined IT + AI background. Phoenix and Houston markets called out explicitly — signals local availability. One sentence each on what you bring vs what Brandon brings.

Headshots or initials Brief bio Market callout

SECTION 6 — SERVICES (LIGHT)

What comes after the assessment

Single subdued section — not a services page, not a pricing page. Three categories listed simply: AI & automation builds, custom agent / GPT development, process optimization. No pricing. No aggressive pitch. Anchor text like "Many clients continue with us after the assessment — here's what that looks like."

3 service tiles Subdued styling No pricing

SECTION 7 — CTA FOOTER

Closing conversion block

Repeat the primary CTA. Add a secondary option for email if they're not ready to book. Keep it clean. "$500 — delivered in 48 hours." Pricing visible here and only here.

5. Pages / routes

/	Main landing page (all sections above)
/assessment	Optional: standalone booking page for sharing in cold outreach
/thank-you	Post-booking confirmation page with next steps
404	Branded, simple, redirects home

6. Key components

Nav	Logo left, "Book an Assessment" CTA button right. Mobile: hamburger or just the CTA button.
CTA button	Links to Calendly (15-min intake call). Or opens inline embed. Decide before build.
Email fallback	Simple mailto or a 2-field form (name + email) — no complex form builder needed.
Report mockup	Static image or stylized HTML card. Should feel like a real deliverable.
Footer	Logo, contact email, Phoenix + Houston mention, no fluff.

7. Technical specs

Build tool	Claude Code — start with Next.js or plain HTML/Tailwind, your call
Hosting	Vercel (recommended — free tier, instant deploy from Claude Code)
Domain	leverageai partners.com (confirm spelling/hyphen)
Booking	Calendly embed — free tier is fine to start
Analytics	Plausible or Google Analytics — track CTA clicks and booking completions
Performance	Lighthouse score ≥ 90. No heavy JS bundles. Fast load = credibility.
Mobile	Mobile-first. Majority of cold outreach clicks will come from phones.

8. Copy priorities

Headlines to write before building. These drive layout.

Hero headline	e.g. "Find out exactly where AI can save you 10 hours a week."
Hero subhead	One sentence: what the assessment is and what you get

4/21/26, 3:31 PM

	prd.html
CTA label	"Book Your Free Intro Call" or "Start Your Assessment"
3-step labels	Short verbs: Discover / Analyze / Act
Services section header	Soft: "Where clients go next"
Bios	2–3 sentences each, written in first person

9. What to tell Claude Code

Start your Claude Code session with: "Build a single-page marketing website for LeverageAI Partners. The primary offering is an AI Business Assessment priced at $500 — a 45-minute Zoom call, custom report delivered in 48 hours, and a follow-up walkthrough call. The main CTA throughout the page is a Calendly booking link. Use Next.js with Tailwind. The aesthetic should be clean, minimal, and professional — not a generic AI startup look. Dark navy and white palette, strong typography. Mobile-first. Sections: hero, how it works (3 steps), report preview, who it's for, about the team (two people, Phoenix + Houston), services overview (subdued), closing CTA. No pricing shown except in the closing CTA block ($500, 48-hr turnaround)."

10. Success metrics
